New Moot Court Judges

Justice J. W. Morris

George Bowdoin Craighill

Justice James Ward Morris, of the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia, and George Bowdoin Craighill, prominent Washington trial lawyer, have been appointed to the faculty of the Law School as adjunct professors of law and will serve as judges of the Moot Court, it was announced by Dean William C. These two new appointments will enlarge the membership of the court by one and will make each section of the court smaller.

Women Students Hold First W.S.G.A. Assembly Friday

Bishop Freeman Heads List Of Chapel Speakers

THE RIGHT REVEREND James Edward Freeman, Episcopal Bishop of Washington since 1923, will preside at the opening chapel service of the Women's Student Government Association, Friday at 12:30 in the west room of Columbian House, 21st and G Streets N.W.

His subject will be "Guarding the Trust." Bishop Freeman, who has had a distinguished career as a religious leader, is entitled to much of the credit for the progress in the construction of the Washington Cathedral. A member of many clubs, he has written several books and numerous articles. The University awarded him the honorary degree of Doctor of Civil Law in 1933; in addition, he has received many other similar honors. Bishop Freeman usually delivers the baccalaureate sermon to the University graduating class each June.

The chapel services this year will be under the general direction of Professor Raymond John Seeger, who has arranged the following schedule of speakers for the first semester:

Oct. 13—The Right Reverend James Edward Freeman, Bishop of Washington.

Oct. 20—The Reverend Peter Marshall, New York Avenue Presbyterian Church.

Oct. 27—The Reverend Frederick Brown Harris, Foundry Methodist Episcopal Church.

Nov. 3—The Reverend Rufus Washington Weaver, Executive Secretary of the District of Columbia Baptist Convention.

Cue & Curtain Schedules Ambitious Program

THE MOST AMBITIOUS program ever inaugurated by a local campus group, according to members of the organization, was announced yesterday by Cue and Curtain, campus drama group.

Twelve nights of production are scheduled, with 12 one-act plays and two full-length dramas to be presented.

The only tryouts of this semester will be held Tuesday and Wednesday of this week at 8 p. m. in Gov. 101. A general meeting of Cue and Curtain members, called at 7:30 p. m. on Tuesday in Gov. 102 will precede the tryouts.

Production will get under way on October 31 and November 1, with three one-act plays. The plays, chosen by the board of directors, but not yet approved by the faculty drama committee, include a comedy, a melodrama, and a drama.

His First Date is a comedy about a Hollywood siren who leads a banker and his son a merry chase through a small dignified town.

Hounded by Hate is an old-fashioned melodrama with hero, heroine and a bemused villain.

The Valiant, one of the most famous one-act tragedies ever written, deals with the last half hour of a condemned man's life.

The three plays include a total of 20 acting parts. Scripts from these plays will be used for the tryouts. Ambitious actors are not to bring their own material. Judging the tryouts are Floyd Sparks, supervising director; and Eugene M. Lerner, Allan Dewey, Betty Green, Rita La Combe, and Margaret Beall, student directors.

One play will be cast with day school students only, and rehearsals will be held in the afternoons.

Students having specific interest in stage design, make-up and costume may register at tryouts this week. One-act plays may be submitted at this time.

The schedule for the rest of the semester provides for production of three one-act plays on December 5 and 6 and a three-act play on January 12 and 13.

Second semester tryouts are planned for February 13 and 14, with production of two series of three one-act plays on March 12 and 13 and on April 2 and 3 and a

Hatchet Now In 36th Year Of Publication

WITH THIS issue, The Hatchet celebrates another birthday. Thirty-five years have elapsed since it began its existence at George Washington. Before that time, the University had been known as Columbian College and its official publication was the Weekly Columbian.

Since 1904, when a small nine-by-seven inch magazine was, for publicity purposes, distributed free of charge to all students, The Hatchet has grown to more than four times its original size.

It was not long before the editors began a program to transfer the sheet into a real, live, interesting newspaper from the mere bulletin-like affair it had been.

In its second year The Hatchet had ceased functioning as a magazine. News, however, was distributed in separate sections for each of the departments.

This plan was abolished, though, when in 1909 an editorial announced: "The Hatchet is a paper for the entire University and not for each department."

Subscription price for the first year was $1.50. This rate continued for seventeen years, until in 1921, it was raised to $2.00, but soon after, the University fee system was instituted at G. W. and subscription to The Hatchet was included. At this point, the paper boasted that the 5,500 students taking The Hatchet constituted the largest circulation of any college weekly in the United States.

In 1931 The Hatchet reached its present size when it was widened to seven columns. New headline type was also used.

The last of the major steps in the modernizing of the paper were taken in 1936 when another style of headline type was purchased. Also in this year, the "streamline" type of makeup was first used. Headlines instead of being arranged in a stepped fashion were set "flush," that is, with all lines beginning at the left margin of the column.

Pre-Med Students Begin Permanent Organization

WITH AN INFORMAL round-table discussion, the pre-medical students of the University began their permanent organization as a group at a meeting in Columbian House last Friday evening.

The association of pre-medical students received its impetus last spring when a group of pre-medical students came together and conceived the idea of an organization that would further the interest of future medical students in their chosen profession.

With this purpose in mind, a series of forums were sponsored last semester and a close-up view of several surgical operations was witnessed by the group.

This semester, under the acting chairmanship of Gordon M. Smith, the pre-medical students have already sponsored one forum at which Dr. Frank A. Hornaday, of the Medical School, spoke.

A publicity campaign is under way to interest all pre-medical students in this group, which Dr. Hornaday said is "of definite value in the associations it brings to the students."

The next round-table meeting will take place Friday, October 21, at 8 p. m. in Columbian House. Every pre-medical student is invited.

Progressives Organize

THE PROGRESSIVE PARTY of the Student Congress will hold an organization meeting Thursday, at 12:30 p. m., in Columbian House, first floor.

Royce Lowry, party chairman of last year, invites all students, particularly freshmen, who are interested in national affairs to be present.

Luther Club Will Meet

THE LUTHER CLUB will have its first regular monthly meeting Wednesday, October 11, at 8 o'clock in the Columbian House. The speaker will be Dr. R. J. Seeger.

Red Cross Roll Call

STUDENTS who wish to join the Red Cross may do so at Mrs. Vinnie G. Barrows' office on the second floor of Columbian House.

University Pays Tribute To Late Dean

OUT OF RESPECT for the memory of the late Dean Lapham, the Engineers' Mixer has been postponed until Wednesday, October 18, at 8 p. m. in Gov-102. All engineering students are invited to attend.

HUNDREDS OF MEMBERS of the faculty of the University, students and alumni of the School of Engineering, and members of the engineering profession, by whom he was known and beloved as colleague and teacher, paid final tribute to Dean John Raymond Lapham of the School of Engineering at funeral services held last Thursday.

Dean Lapham died at the University Hospital October 2. He had undergone an operation about a week prior to that time.

Born at West Medway, Mass., Dean Lapham was graduated from Brown University in 1909 with the degree of B. S. in Civil Engineering. He received the degree of M. S. in Civil Engineering from Pennsylvania State College in 1916. He taught at Penn State from 1912 to 1916.

Coming to the University in 1916 as assistant professor in Civil Engineering, he became a professor in 1919. In 1927 he was made Dean of the School of Engineering.

He was a member of Acacia fraternity, Sigma Tau honorary engineering fraternity, the American Society of Civil Engineers, the Washington Society of Engineers, the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, and the American Concrete Society. He served as a member of the original Zoning Board for the District of Columbia.

Dean Lapham is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lapham; a son, John R. Lapham, Jr., and a daughter, Evelyn, both of whom are students in the University.

Debate Council Invites Students To Meeting

ALL FORENSIC-MINDED students have been invited by the University Debate Council to attend the first meeting of the Council to be held in Columbian House at 8 p. m.

In order that new debaters will be completely familiar with the debate and its operation at the University, the meeting will feature introduction of this year's officers of the club, and an explanation of the aims and work of the University Debate Council. Invitations to their first meeting have been sent to some new students, but all interested, new and old, are cordially invited to attend this meeting. The meeting will be primarily a social one, with refreshments served.

The officers of last year were: President, Cole Reasin; vice president, Charles Corker; and secretary-treasurer, Elsie Carper.

Short addresses will be given by Professors Yeager, Harding, Roberts, and Bennett, members of the Public Speaking Bureau of the University.

Mortar Board Will Repolish Apples

MORTAR BOARD is planning to stage a reappearance of its "apple-polishing" luncheons sometime this month. Also included in its plans are lectures on propaganda. Mortar Board feels that these lectures will be of vital interest and value to the whole University.

Page Dirker, national officer of Mortar Board, will visit the local organization during the week of October 17, at which time the local Mortar Board will sponsor numerous programs in honor of the national officer.

Secretary Elected

ALPHA KAPPA PSI, professional commerce fraternity, elected Carroll Starns, secretary of their organization last week.

Colonial Hopes Dampened By Loss Of John Kokoski

at the University Hospital Sunday at 12:30 noon. The operation was performed by Dr. Daniel L. Borden, University surgeon.

Reports from the hospital indicated that Kokoski was resting very nicely and would probably be released in about ten days. He will be lost to the football team for the rest of the season.

"Koko's" appendicitis developed rapidly after the game, with Davis-Elkins Saturday. He complained of a stomach ache during the half, his condition grew worse that night and he was admitted to the hospital at ten o'clock Sunday morning.

Coch Reinhardt feels the loss of Kokoski very much, as this 175-pound guard from Ambridge, Pa., was a key man on the line and was expected to carry the brunt of the work. Reinhardt plans to shift Stan Ziobro from right guard to left with Dean Reese in reserve, and use Frank Farkas and Floyd McGinn on the right side of the line.

Kokoski played a bang-up game against Davis-Elkins, as well as the rest of the line and will be greatly missed. The D. & E. Senators made a minus 15 yards by rushing against the strong Colonial forward wall that game.

COLONIAL HOPES for a successful football season were considerably dampened by the loss of John Kokoski, star left guard, who was operated on for acute appendicitis

A Loss—

• A FACE IS MISSING from among us today. It is missing today and forevermore, for the spirit is fled—the soul gone. The University as a whole has suffered a loss from which it will be long in recovering; but a particularly hard blow has been struck to the Engineering School, by the sudden death of its beloved Dean, John Raymond Lapham.

Without his wry smile, his sympathetic ear, and his eyes bright with energy and enthusiasm that could vie with youth, there will be a void felt by everyone in the Engineering School, from the topmost professor to the lowliest freshman.

We feel sure that Dean Lapham's successor will be the first to admit that a large-sized job awaits him in carrying on the late Dean's work of enlarging both materially and academically the scope of the Engineering School.

The continued progress of the School will serve as an everlasting memorial to the untiring efforts of Dean Lapham.

Hatchet Enters 36th Year

• THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO this week, the first issue of The University Hatchet was received by students in the University.

A comparison of Vol. 36, No. 1, which was issued three weeks ago, and Vol. 1, No. 1, which was published in 1904, reveals at first sight that in 35 years The Hatchet has undergone a great many changes.

Upon closer inspection, however, it appears that this transition has only been outward. Typographically and from the standpoint of newspaper technique, the streamlined Hatchet of today differs radically from the first issue which resembled a magazine. Fundamentally, however, The Hatchet of 1904 is The Hatchet of today. In the first issue, F. S. Hemmick wrote:

"In this period in the broadening and strengthening of our University comes a new and wider field for the paper. This The University Hatchet shall endeavor to fill.

"Our aim is to make the paper more than ever a newspaper. We want the news of everything that is going on; of the faculty, of all our departments, classes, teams, fraternities, and we must have it."

These principles, expounded in that first issue, remain as the cardinal points of our present policy.

We of the Staff of 1939, look upon The Hatchet as an institution. It was here before we came, and it will be here when we leave. For all of our efforts, it will not be vastly different for our being here. Our fervent hope is that our small contribution may add to its inevitable progress.

Religion In The University

• GRATIFYING INDEED to many members of the University faculty and student body are the renewed efforts which are being exerted this year to make chapel services a worthwhile phase of the University's educational program.

Acquaintance with the best religious thought of the day should play a vital part in one's education. Eminent leaders in the world today have pointed out that religion is a bulwark of civilization itself. In his address to Congress September 21, President Roosevelt made the following significant statements: "An ordering of society which relegates religion, democracy, and good faith among nations to the background can find no place within it for the ideals of the Prince of Peace. The United States rejects such an ordering and retains the ancient faith . . . Any war anywhere retards the progress of morality and religion and impairs the security of civilization itself . . . Fate seems now to compel us to assume the task of helping to maintain in the Western World a citadel where that civilization may be kept alive."

The announcement last week that chapel services will be resumed with renewed vigor this year and that some of the leading religious thinkers in Washington have been secured as speakers may be considered as a public recognition by the University of the part which enlightened, un-biased, religion can play in the development of a well-rounded individual. While maintaining its freedom from sectarian affiliations, the University offers opportunities for spiritual growth among students through chapel services and through encouraging religious club activity.

The careful plans which have been made for the services indicate that the Administration is sincerely and earnestly interested in making the chapel services worthy of attending. It only remains for students and professors to take advantage of the opportunity thus offered.

The Library Organizes

• THE BEHIND-THE-SCENES organization of a library is so excessively more complex than the average member of the reading public imagines, that it is a source of wonderment to those familiar with library work to find the Lisner Library operating so smoothly after such a complete, quick change-over of environment, system, and facilities.

The organizational efforts of John Russell Mason, The Librarian, and of his executive assistants were exceedingly thorough, to the point where the library is not only well run, but well planned—it is one of those rarities—a library in the construction of which advice was sought from the librarian, whose task it would be to organize the library.

University Groups Eulogize Dean John Raymond Lapham

• UPON THE DEATH of Dean John Raymond Lapham, of the University Engineering School, last week, the following resolutions were adopted by various University groups:

The Engineering Faculty

• WE, THE MEMBERS of the Engineering School Faculty, mourn the inexpressible loss of our leader, colleague, and friend, John Raymond Lapham. Our grief is mingled with gratitude for the privilege of having known him. In this dark hour, we find comfort and courage in the vision we caught from association with him.

The Faculty School of Engineering, By Frank A. Hitchcock, Acting Dean.

The Law Faculty

• WHEREBY THE FACULTY of the Law School has just learned of the death of Dean John R. Lapham, of the School of Engineering, and, whereas the death of Dean Lapham is a personal loss to his many friends in the Law Faculty and a real loss to the Law School as a part of the University, and because of the special friendship and definite interest in the Law School constantly displayed by Dean Lapham, therefore

Be It Resolved by the Faculty of the Law School at its regular meeting October 3, that the Faculty voices its sense of personal and institutional loss in the death of Dean Lapham and its sympathy to Mrs. Lapham and their two children, and resolved that this be made a part of the minutes, and that a copy be sent to Mrs. Lapham.

The Engineering Alumni

• "RESOLVED, that the members of the Engineer Alumni Association of The George Washington University record their profound appreciation of the life and labors which were so unexpectedly brought to a close by the death of Dean John R. Lapham, October 2, 1939.

"Early in his life he decided his greatest contribution to the engineering profession, of which he was an honored and distinguished member, could be made through instructing and guiding others in engineering pursuits. Following two years' employment in the construction department of a New England railroad he began his teaching career at Pennsylvania State College in 1911. He came to George Washington University in 1916 as assistant professor of civil engineering, advanced to professor in 1919, and to Dean of the School of Engineering in 1927. For nearly 30 years he has honored his high position in his profession by faithful discharge of his duties. As Dean of the School of Engineering for the past 12 years he has endeared himself to the undergraduates and faculty alike, not through teaching alone, but also, and to a greater extent, through his understanding heart. Ever willing to lend his broad experience and sympathetic consideration to the personal as well as scholastic problems of his students, he became to many a paternal adviser. Every man who has attended the school can recall one or more occasions on which he went to Dean Lapham with a knotty problem and came away inspired and resolved to meet squarely his responsibilities. The Dean's style was simple, direct and strong. Virile and determined, his strength was subdued to a conscience sensitive to right, and his purposes were shaped by a character of perfect integrity. His beloved family, the University, hundreds of students, and a host of friends have suffered a great loss, but all must and will resolve to Cigarettes were compared recently... sixteen of the largest-selling brands... under the searching tests of impartial laboratory scientists. Findings were announced as follows:

1 CAMELS were found to contain 1 more tobacco by weight than the average for the 15 other of the largest-selling brands.

2 Camels burned slower than any other brand tested—25% slower than the average time of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands! By burning 25% slower, on the average, Camels give smokers the equivalent of 5 extra smokes per pack!

3 In the same tests, Camels held their ash far longer than the average time for all the other brands.

"I know from years of experience that Camels give a longer smoke—milder, cooler, mellower"

SAYS JOE WILLIAMS
FAMOUS SPORTS EXPERT

LONG-BURNING SMOKES have a big appeal for Joe Williams, as well as for many another cigarette smoker. Joe, whose keen comments on sports are eagerly read by millions of fans, is equally "in the know" on cigarettes too. He says: "Every Camel gives me an extra period of cigarette enjoyment—a longer smoke, and a milder, cooler, mellower smoke! Naturally, such a cigarette has a more appealing taste. Yes, sir," Joe concludes, "it's a real thrill to smoke a Camel." You, too, will find that Camel's long-burning, cooler tobaccos do give more pleasure per puff—AND—more puffs per pack. That's pleasure plus economy—a shrewd buy. No wonder America's smokers have made Camels their cigarette choice No. 1.

Buff Faces Hard Game With Butler

• BUTLER UNIVERSITY'S Bulldogs, who are well on their way toward their sixth consecutive Indiana College Conference title, will provide the next obstacle in the path of the Colonial gridders. Although the Buffmen had expected to use their first three games as experimental battles in preparation for their major tilt with the Hoyas, advance notices indicate that Butler, never a pushover, is expected to provide the Colonials with one of their toughest battles this year.

The Bulldogs already have three games under their belt, all registered in the victory column, while the Buff warriors, with only the Davis and Elkins win on their slate, are somewhat behind the Indiana gridders in preparation for the forthcoming game in Indianapolis, Saturday.

Kokoski Lost for Season
Although Reinhart's charges suffered the loss of a promising guard in John Kokoski, who is out for the season after an appendectomy, this misfortune is somewhat alleviated by the fact that Butler will also be minus an important cog in Frank Celarek, star sophomore back, who was recently injured in an automobile crash, and will be unable to play.

The 19-0 victory over Davis and Elkins last Saturday, although satisfying, still showed up many rough spots in the Colonial play which must be remedied before the team leaves for Indianapolis Friday. It was generally agreed that the line play, both on the defense and offense, was the brightest spot in the opening game. Despite the statistics, however, the Buff offense is still lacking in finesse and coordination which Coach Reinhart expects.

Backs Lack Proper Timing
Much of this week's practice will probably be spent on these rough spots in the backfield, in an effort to get that split second timing which every play must have to function properly. Playing more or less under wraps under the keen gazes of Hoya scouts, the Buffmen used only a few fundamental plays in polishing off the Scarlet Hurricane of Davis and Elkins, and some time will no doubt be spent in polishing up plays to be used in the Butler tilt and other future games.

So far this year, Butler has shown in their first three games an abundance of power, scoring 62 points to their opponents seven. In their opening tilt, Butler scored a decisive 16-0 victory over Ball State, won a close one from Ohio University, the next week-end, 12-7, and really went to town in their third game, walloping a weak Indiana State Teachers by the lopsided score of 34-0. The star of these three games has been Tom Harding, a polished triple-threat back, who has sparked the Bulldogs in every contest this season. Scouts have indicated that he will be the man to watch when the Colonial gridders take the field next Saturday in the Butler Bowl.

Football Opens 'Mural' Schedule

• THE FIRST games of the 1939 intramural touch football season will be played tomorrow afternoon on the Lincoln Memorial grounds at 21st and Constitution Ave.

This sport is open to all men students who are free between 2 and 5 in the afternoon. Although the season officially begins tomorrow, Don Rush, Intramural Director, announced that any students who sign their name on the posters in the Student Club or in the gymnasium, will be placed on a team and entered.

Each class will play in separate groups, freshmen, sophomore, junior and senior. The winners of each class will play for the championship. A number of managerial positions remain unfilled. The junior class manager position is still open. The junior manager will be in charge of all teams entered by the juniors. He will supervise the various sub-managers who have charge of one sport apiece.

Melvin Bers and Vic Baker have been selected by Rush for the freshman and sophomore manager positions. Rudy Rudolph is senior manager.

University Sailors Enter Three Boats In Sunday's Races

• AMONG THE BOATS sailing in the Potomac races next Sunday afternoon will be three sailboats racing for the University Sailing Club. Herbert Lindsey, who succeeds Andre Andersen as commodore, says the club plans to sail boats every Sunday in the Fall races of the Potomac River Sailing Association, which last through October and November.

During the Summer, the Sailing Club competed in races with Georgetown and St. Johns. Although they own two Cape Cod Dinghies of their own, they have been using boats belonging to Georgetown and St. Johns. They had intended to race in the President's Cup Regatta, but failed to reach the starting line in time.

All new members are welcome at the next meeting of the club, which will be held in D-208 tomorrow evening at 7 p.m.

Sophs Star In 19-0 Win Over Senators

By TOM McCALL

• WALTER WELC AND EDDIE WILAMOSKI, sophomore backs, proved the surprise of the Colonial's opener with Davis-Elkins, as the two youngsters sparked the 19-0 victory over the Senators Saturday afternoon. Walt Fedora, starting fullback, injured his hip during the first half and was replaced by Welc, who ripped the Scarlet Hurricane line for several large gains, and played a fine defensive game. Wilamoski also made several good gains and shows promise of developing into a triple-threat man.

Although the ten thousand fans, sweltering under a very warm October sun, saw all the scoring done by last year's lettermen, they certainly must have been impressed by the Colonial Sophomores, both linemen and backs.

Hoyas Fall to Roll Up Score
Georgetown was unimpressive in their 25-0 win over little Roanoke College in the first game of the bargain double-header. A fighting Maroon team gave the Hoyas more resistance than was expected, holding the Hilltoppers scoreless in the first quarter.

The Colonials scored in all but the second period. Bob Nowaskey scored on a 13 yard end-around play in the opening minutes of the game. Sam Babich, who played a great game at quarterback, took Wilamoski's pass on the Senator 15 to score the second Buff touchdown in the third quarter, shaking off two would-be tacklers as he slashed his way across the goal line. Richardson scored standing up on a four yard cut through the line late in the last quarter for the final Colonial marker. Fred Sartore booted the extra point with Richardson holding.

Colonial Footers were given a score midway in the second period when John Simpson, D-E center, blocked Batson's punt on the G.W. 25 and recovered on the Buff one yard line. The breaks were with the Colonials as officials ruled an offside penalty against the invaders and the play was called back.

The Colonials' superiority was amply demonstrated by the statistics of the game. The winners made 180 yards by rushing to a minus 15 and 16 first downs to only two for the Senators. Five of eight Colonial passes were completed for a gain of 66 yards, and four passes totalling 27 yards for D. E. Hudson out-kicked the Colonial punters, averaging 41 yards to 36 for the locals.

Frosh Meet Terps Friday; Win Opener

By BOB HOWARD

• THE FRESHMEN successfully launched their 1939 football season with a crushing 28-0 victory over a fighting, but outclassed Dickinson Seminary eleven, last Friday afternoon at Central Stadium. By winning this game they avenged last year's 33-0 defeat at the hands of this same team. The yearlings are pointing to their game Friday afternoon at three o'clock with the Maryland frosh at College Park.

The first Buff score against Dickinson came in the second quarter following a deadlocked first period which saw most of the play in Dickinson territory. After advancing the ball into enemy territory the Colonials scored on a 55-yard pass from Don Pinnow to George Craig. Craig received the ball on the two-yard line and went over for the touchdown. Successful line plunges added the extra point.

Fanning Attack Clinched Victory
The second quarter was marked by the success of the Colonial passing attack and by a pass interception by Bud Wright, who ran 40 yards to a touchdown. The extra point was kicked by Dan Snyder, who was used exclusively for this purpose due to injuries sustained in practice.

"Zip" Zimmerman provided a thrill in the opening part of the second half when he intercepted a Dickinson pass on his own 30 and ran 70 yards behind perfect block-

Tigers Head Buff Foes

• THE CLEMSON Tigers won the outstanding victory among the Colonial's football opponents last week as they overpowered North Carolina State 25-6. The Tigers, displaying a smooth running attack, marched to an easy victory over State.

In the first game of the football double-header at Griffith Stadium, Saturday, Georgetown routed Roanoke 25-0. The Hoyas, led by Lou Ghecas, speedy halfback who raced 85 yards to a touchdown on a punt return, had little trouble as they scored in the second and third quarters.

West Virginia's Mountaineers failed to score against Pittsburgh for the eleventh straight year as they lost to the mighty Panthers 20-0. Bucknell lost its second game of the season when it bowed to Penn State College 13-3.

The Kansas Jayhawkers had little trouble with Iowa State as they defeated the Cornhuskers 14-0. The Butler Bulldogs, the Colonial's next opponent, swamped Indiana State 34-0 to remain undefeated for the year.

The Citadel won its first game of the year as it nosed out Presbyterian College 12-7 in a Friday night game.

ing for the third score. Snyder again converted. When the Buff running attack began to click in the fourth quarter, Pinnow climaxed a 60 yard touchdown march with a four-yard plunge for the fourth and final score.

The game was featured by the tight defense of the Colonials. Dickinson did not advance beyond the Buff 40 yard line except on one occasion and did not make a first down on running plays.

Frosh Lose Promising Back
Coach Ray Hanken was very pleased with the team's showing and used the 35 players comprising the entire squad with the exception of three injured men, Peter Hoffer, Jim O'Brien and Frank Furlie. Hoffer was highly touted, but a hand injury will keep him out of play for the remainder of the season. However, great things are expected of him next year. According to Coach Hanken, the team is the best in the history of the University and will be a big help to the varsity next season.

Rousers Club To Stage More Pep Rallies

• THE ROUSERS CLUB, under the leadership of Roy Lever, is going to stage a number of rallies this fall to induce the student body to support the football team.

They are planning a rally before each home game at which time they will introduce a coach and about five or six of the team. At the first rally, last Friday, Eleanor Sherburne, University Sweetheart, introduced Coach Reinhart and some of the members of the team.

All future rallies will be held on the platform behind the new library, and each time an attractive girl will be asked to introduce the men. Botchy Koch, line coach, will be one of those presented at the next rally.

The Rousers and the band will welcome the team when they return from games played away from home. The band will also be present at all the rallies and games. Between the halves at the games some sort of entertainment will take place.

Toward increasing school spirit, mimeographed sheets with the names of the football players and their home towns will be given to the student body. On the second page will be printed, also, the University songs and cheers. This will be on notebook-size paper so that the students can carry the sheets with them.

The Rousers announce that the organization is anxious to secure new members. "As an inducement," Roy Lever said, "each member of the Rousers Club will receive, at the end of the season, a white sweater with a G. W. letter on it." The club will welcome any suggestions from the students.

Theta Tau Will Initiate

Commemorating the 35th anniversary celebration, Major Henry J. Matchett, Alpha Chapter, will give the history of the national organization, and William J. Ellenberger, Gamma Beta Chapter, will present highlights of the local chapter's growth. Norman Bruce Ames, executive officer of the National Council, will discuss plans for the Biennial Convention to be held in December.

The National Capital Alumni Association will hold a meeting before the banquet to discuss plans for the year.

Colonial Campus Club Pledges 3 at Banquet

• JEAN CRILER, Elsie Kenkins and Helen Marie Byars were formally pledged into the Colonial Campus Club at a banquet at the Highlands last Saturday. Becky Hobst and Rosslyn Pope were not able to attend but will be formally pledged with the others next Friday.

A business meeting was held on Monday in the rooms at Columbian House.

The Colonial Campus Club, a non-fraternal organization, has been on the campus for six years. Week at first, it was reorganized in 1936 and today is one of the well-known organizations at the University.

The members must be active in at least one other campus organization. Miss Ann Galtier, the president, is also vice-president of W. A. A. and secretary of Orchestras.

New President Of Congress Will Be Elected Oct. 18

By Pat Horne

• THE CONGRESS, the University's own legislative body, will hold an organization meeting on October 18 at 8 p.m. in Room 30, Stockton Hall. The main business of the evening will be to elect a new president and to formulate plans for the coming year. Membership cards will be given on request. There is a fee of $1 per year, but 50c will be returned if 50 per cent of the meetings are attended. All students interested are invited to be present.

The Congress, organized in 1934 with Theodore Pearson as the president, was formerly called the Student Union. It was modeled after two student unions already in effect at Oxford and Cambridge University in England.

Structurally like the United States Senate, the object of the Congress is to enable the students to form their opinions on questions of national political importance.

Three Parties First

At first, there were three parties consisting of right, left, and center. The party in power controlled the forum, and also the majority of the committees, since the chairmen were chosen by the president. This system proved to be ineffective as the center nominee was always elected because the majority of the voters were neither radical nor conservative. For three years the Congress was very popular and most of the sororities and fraternities strongly supported it. But gradually interest waned, since the center controlled everything. Finally a new plan of organization was introduced which is still being used today.

The Congress now consists of four parties (although there can be more)—the Farmer-Laborite, the Liberal-Democratic, the Progressive, and the Republican parties. Congress' 100 seats are distributed to delegates from the four parties, and each party receives a number of seats in proportion to the number of votes it polls in the annual campus-wide election, held in October.

Executive Council

All the executive power of Congress is vested in the executive council—it formulates and carries out all the general policies. The council is composed of three members from each party, and is presided over by the president of Congress.

In order that Congress may function more effectively, it has a rules committee, which draws up the rules of debate. This committee also elects the chairmen of the legislative committees and sets the dates on which those committees report. Last year, reports were made by the committees of national defense, foreign affairs, labor, agriculture, government and business, and social welfare. Each party is represented on the rules committee in proportion to the number of seats it holds in Congress, and the committee elects its chairman.

There is a meeting of the Farmer-Labor party at 8 p.m. Thursday, on the second floor of Columbian House, for purpose of drawing up the party declaration.

Also there will be a meeting of the Liberal Democratic party, Tuesday night at 8:15 in D-104. The topics of discussion will be the new reorganization of the Congress, plans for a membership campaign, and a detailed discussion of the platform of the Liberal Democratic party.

Tentative plans for the season include the presentation of its Madrigal Singers at the Arts Club of Washington; a performance of the opera "Faust"; a joint appearance with a sister group "Modern Dance"; and the presentation of noted local singers, pianists, and speakers as guest artists. Evenings of symphonic recordings will form frequent interludes of the meetings.

The meetings are held at the various homes of the members. Any one who is interested in joining and participating in the club's activities, whether a music student or music appreciator, is welcome.

All those intending to come are asked to call the secretary, Adams 6451, so that they may receive announcements of the time, place, and other pertinent information regarding the meetings.

Symphony Club Meets Next Week

• THE SYMPHONY CLUB will open its University activities next week with a social evening at the home of its secretary, Jerry Rosey, 2339 28th Street, N.W. The date of the meeting will be announced on the Student Club bulletin board.

Tentative plans for the season include the presentation of its Madrigal Singers at the Arts Club of Washington; a performance of the opera "Faust"; a joint appearance with a sister group "Modern Dance"; and the presentation of noted local singers, pianists, and speakers as guest artists. WJSV Head Addresses Radio Speaking Class

• MEMBERS of Professor Willard Hayes Yeager's class in radio speaking will hear first-hand information on "The Duties of a Radio Announcer" from the manager of Radio Station WJSV, Mr. Jeff Willard, who will address the class next Thursday, at 5 p.m.

At a later date, the class will have as speaker, Mr. Fulton Lewis, Jr., notable Washington news commentator. Mr. Lewis will discuss how he prepares his daily broadcasts.

Also scheduled for Prof. Yeager's class is a visit to a radio station where they will study acoustics, sound effects, and the composition and placing of the microphone.

full length play on May 3 and 4. All plays will be presented at the Western Presbyterian Church, 1906 H St., a half block from campus.

Plans to be proposed by the executive committee at Tuesday's meeting include: entrance in the District One-Act Play Tournament, a spring banquet, establishment of a points system for membership with an award to the member with the most points and an one-act play-writing contest with a $5 prize for the winning author. Cue and Curtain will produce the winning play.

In the District One-Act Play Tournament of last year, Cue and Curtain entered the finals and won fourth prize with Floyd Sparks' production of Dennis Flimmer's "In Heaven and Earth."

Juniors, Seniors May Still Take Women's Sports

• IT'S NOT too late for upper-class coeds to take part in the sports activities offered by the women's physical education department. Opportunities in hockey, soccer, archery, riding, tennis, dancing and fencing are available.

Seven practices are necessary before entering the hockey game schedule which starts Nov. 13. Advanced practice is held on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays at 1:40. Acacia Hears Congressman • ACACIA'S RUSH BANQUET was given Wednesday evening. Toastmaster James Kirkland presented the guest speaker, Congressman Francis Case of South Dakota, who spoke of the pleasures and advantages he had enjoyed through fraternal affiliation during his career. He then introduced Mr. Gus Anderson, an Athenian survivor, as his wandering schoolmate.

Mr. Anderson related in considerable detail the events surrounding the ocean tragedy and told how he had obtained the only existing pictures of the rescue. He augmented his talk with a scrapbook of photographs and newspaper accounts describing his experiences. Mr. Anderson's photographs have been featured in newspapers throughout the world.

President Stanley Petersen outlined the history and principles of Acacia.

Entertainment was offered by Harry Baker, well-known Washington magician and mind-reader, and Mervin and his accordion.

Saturday evening, Acacia was host to rushes at a buffet supper at the fraternity house and later at a weiner roast at Fort Hunt, Va. Refreshments, songs, stories, and a special colored preacher act by former President Harold Stepien provided amusement during the evening.

Sections O, P and Q have been set aside and tickets in these sections may be purchased at the cashier's office at $1.65 each. There has been a large demand for tickets and Athletic Director Max Farington urges all students to make purchases early.
